Mrs. Lucinda Richardson Dead.

Mrs. Lucinda Richardson, aged 50 years, died last Friday at her home two miles northwest of Glensted on Richland, after a brief illness, her disease being stomach trouble. She was the wife of Constantine Richardson and was the mother of eight children, and had lived in this country since she was sixteen years of age. She was a member of the Baptist church and held her religious faith and family ties as her most sacred Christian principles. The funeral was conducted Sunday, Rev. J. B. Stone preaching a brief funeral discourse at the home after which the remains were followed to Akinville and laid to rest in the cemetery there in the presence of a large gathering of relatives, friends and neighbors whose sympathy is extended to the bereaved family in the valued loss of a devoted wife and loving mother.

Married in Versailles.

J. R. Kinnard of Belle arrived in this city last Saturday and stopped over until Monday when he was met here by Miss Fannie Campbell and the couple secured the proper credentials from Circuit Clerk Thomas after which Judge H. E. Neville was called in and neatly performed the marriage ceremony. The couple left for Belle on the early train Tuesday morning. The groom, who is employed in the bridge department of the Rock Island, called at the Democrat's sanctum while here and appeared to be a very pleasant gentleman, yet he was somewhat reticent with regard to his mission in Versailles. The above proceedings explain the story.

Progress Club Outing.

The ladies of the Progress Club spent the afternoon on Thursday of last week with Mrs. C. C. Crew near Barnett, the latter being a member of the club. It was in the nature of an outing, and as the outdoor recreation was exhilarating and a splendid lunch was sandwiched in, the visit was one of infinite pleasure to both the hostess and her guests. The ladies are loud in their expressions of praise regarding the outing.

The Moreaus Victorious.

The second game of base ball between Versailles and the Moreaus of Glensted was played at Base Ball Park in this city last Sunday afternoon and was witnessed by a larger crowd of enthusiasts than was the first contest.

The game was an interesting exhibition and started off in professional fashion, but the grounds being in bad condition the fast work could not be kept up. Several features of the game developed the fact that before the season is far advanced both these teams will become stubborn competitors for visitors who may compete with them for honors.

Moreau led off at the bat but failed to connect, going down with a mess of goose eggs. Versailles was treated to the same dose, the second inning the visitors made the first run. In the third they again succeeded in landing two over the home plate, while Versailles was donated another 0. In the fourth a bad break both by the umpire and a wild throw to Yeager gave Moreau three runs. The bases were full, the ball being thrown to Yeager, struck the runner and landed behind the crowd. Not a man was entitled to run in, while the runner should have been out. Instead, three tallies were scored by the Bronchos with five all told in the inning. This was the only bad feature in the game aside from a few errors made by the home team because of non-practice.

In the fifth Versailles scored the first run and treated the visitors to another mess of goose eggs. Neither team scored in the sixth. In the seventh Moreau scored one while Versailles failed to materialize. In the eighth Moreau gathered in two more, when Versailles rallied and succeeded in making four runs, and again fell down in the ninth, leaving the score at the conclusion as follows:

Versailles—0 0 0 0 1 0 0 4 0—5
Moreau—0 1 2 5 0 0 1 2 0—11

Rob. Stockton, who will pitch for Versailles during the season, was in the box Sunday and was supported by Yeager behind the bat. While out of practice to some extent he made a favorable showing and when toned down will make a decided improvement in the home team. Barnett, the other addition to the team did not add any material honors to his record, yet he worked to a disadvantage on the heavy grounds. A number of errors were made, but the game proved very satisfactory to the "fans." Dr. H. N. Lutman umpired the game.

Ball Team Reorganized.

The Versailles ball team reorganized this week and elected Elmer Padgett as manager, Ben Rickard captain, G. A. Troutwine secretary, W. D. Bakewell treasurer. As lined up at present the team will make a warm member. Following are the players: Catcher, Padgett; pitcher, Stockton; first base, Murphy; second, Keotting; third, H. N. Lutman; short stop, Bakewell; field, Rickard, Troutwine and Yeager, Kidwell and Livingston on the bench.
